INCOMPETENT TO BE JUDGES ON SECESSION

Joint Parliamentary Committee Reports on Case of Western Australia

FIRST QUESTION FOR FEDERAL DECISION

LONDON, May 24 (CP).—The question of secession of a state or province of a British Dominion is first of all a question for the Federal Government of that Dominion to pass upon, it was ruled today.

The joint select committee of the House of Lords and the House of Commons reported on the case of the State of Western Australia, seeking secession from the Australian Commonwealth and independent status as a Dominion within the British Commonwealth.

NOT COMPETENT
The decision was that the British Parliament was constitutionally incompetent to take the legislative action requested, except upon a definite request of the Commonwealth Government.

The State's petition to His Majesty and the Parliament of the United Kingdom was presented last December, after long agitation within Western Australia, which complained of economic disadvantages under the Federal Government. Previously the State voted 2 to 1 in plebiscite in favor of secession from the Commonwealth, which opposed the present petition.

LYONS IS PLEASED
Commenting, Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons of Australia, declared: "I am pleased with the substance and unanimity of the report, not because I have the desire to suppress the discussion of the special problem of Western Australia, but because I feel strongly that any such discussion should take place in its proper form, the Commonwealth Parliament, or before any commission set up for the purpose."

WILL FIGHT ON
MELBOURNE, May 24 (CP Cable via Reuters).—"The people of Western Australia will fight on until they receive justice from the Commonwealth Government," declared Premier Philip Collier of the State of Western Australia, tonight, when he learned of the verdict of the select committee in London, refusing the State's petition to the Imperial Parliament.

"The present position is intolerable," said the Premier. "Unless there are great changes the Federation cannot last another ten years."

GREAT DAY ACCLAIMED

Victoria Rejoices in Revival of Glory of Historic May 24—Many Events

Very few persons left the city yesterday, judging from the vast concourse of people who thronged the city streets to see the Victoria Day parade and later to attend the various other attractions arranged for them by the May 24 celebration committee. It was a glorious, warm, sunshiny day, and conservative estimates placed the crowds in the downtown area to witness the procession at between 20,000 and 25,000.

For the general public, the celebration opened with the crowning of the May Queen at Parliament Square at 12 o'clock noon. The lawn was obliterated from sight by the great mass of humanity that thronged to the square to witness this picturesque and colorful pageant.

At 12:30 the big parade was announced on Page 3, Column 4.

PARACHUTE SAVES MAN FROM CRASH

Aviation Instructor Killed When Machine Is Wrecked on Golf Links Near Seattle

SEATTLE, May 24 (AP).—Saved by a parachute which opened only about 100 feet above the ground, Ernest Piercy, thirty-one, who had been taking flying lessons about three weeks, tonight credited his life to the sacrifice of Harold Evers, thirty-two, an instructor, who was killed in a crash on a golf links south of here today.

"Our plane went into a 'flat spin' and wouldn't come out," he said. "Evers took the controls and tried to take her out, but she wouldn't come."

"He hollered at me to jump. I jumped, and saw him with one leg out of the cockpit."

Thousands Acclaim Island May Queen At Regal Ceremony

Mayor David Leeming Places Crown on Head of Miss Lillian Grant and Asks Assembly to Pay Her Homage

WITH all the pomp and ceremony of a regal affair and with color and pageantry, Vancouver Island's May Queen, Miss Lillian Grant, was officially crowned by His Worship Mayor David Leeming on the steps of the Legislative Buildings yesterday at noon, while an assembly of more than 5,000 persons cheered.

The coronation of "Her Majesty Queen Lillian" signaled the commencement of Victoria's big day of parades and other festivities.

The crowd had already started to gather on the lawn in Parliament Square, and the brightly-clad Canadian Scottish band, under the direction of Lieut. James Miller, kept the spirits of the holiday-makers high with lively marches.

SALUTE IS GIVEN
At noon, the queen's procession left the Empress Hotel, and the approach was signaled by a salute of aerial bombs that "broke out" in Union Jacks attached to parachutes.

War Threat Averted By Compromise Plan In Eden's Resolution

Mussolini Yields to Diplomacy and Agrees to Arbitration of Dispute

TIME LIMIT FOR CONCILIATION FIXED

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press) GENEVA, May 25.—The League of Nations Council unanimously adopted tonight two resolutions previously accepted by Premier Mussolini, for a compromise proposal looking to settlement of Italy's border dispute with Ethiopia.

The action was taken at a public session, called precipitately upon Italy's yielding to British and French demands for arbitration of the dispute, after the council, in a secret session, had given preliminary approval to the proposals.

The first resolution, citing border incidents leading to the dispute, said the two Governments have nominated arbitrators and "are in agreement in entrusting settlement of these incidents to the same arbitrators in accordance with Article Five of the Italo-Ethiopian Treaty."

The League Council, in the second resolution, left to Italy and Ethiopia "full liberty to settle the dispute in question."

In the event that a final understanding shall not have been reached by July 25, and the four original arbitrators have failed to reach an agreement on selection of a fifth arbitrator, the resolution provided:

WILL RECEIVE FURTHER HONOR

His Majesty Approves Appointment of John Buchan as K.C.M.G.

LONDON, May 24 (CP).—John Buchan, eminent author and parliamentarian, who will be Canada's next Governor-General, received a further honor tonight when it was announced that His Majesty has approved his appointment as a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

He has already been elevated to the peerage, although he has not yet chosen his title, and thus today's honor is complementary. He is generally expected to choose the title, Baron Buchan of Tweedmouth, in recognition of his Scottish environment.

GUESTS AT BANQUET

Canada's new Governor-General, with his wife, was among the guests at a banquet tendered by the combined Empire societies tonight to those of the Empire prime ministers in London following the Royal Silver Jubilee celebrations.

Coincidentally, formal announcement was made of Mr. Buchan's resignation from the House of Commons. The Edinburgh Town Council voted to confer upon him the freedom of the city on June 10.

Mr. Buchan actually left the House of Commons the day his appointment to Canada was announced two months ago, but the regulation announcement will appear tomorrow morning in The Official Gazette.

VANCOUVER, May 24 (CP).—One man was drowned in a boating accident and seven other persons are in hospital, one in a serious condition, from motor accidents in Vancouver and vicinity today.

Ira McCance, Vancouver resident and father of three children, the youngest of which is ten months old, was drowned when the fourteen-foot sailboat in which he and two others were sailing in English Bay capsized. Small Son of Tacoma Lumber Mill Owner Is Feared Kidnapped

Intensive Search Being Conducted for Nine-Year-Old Child of J. Philip Weyerhaeuser, Jr., Last Seen Near School Yesterday

TACOMA, May 24 (AP).—Charles Ingram, assistant general manager of the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., tonight revealed that nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, son of J. Philip Weyerhaeuser, Jr., wealthy timberman, was mysteriously missing since noon. Ingram would neither affirm or deny a report that the family received a ransom note tonight.

The lad was reported to have disappeared en route home from the Lowell School at lunch time. He was last seen by members of the school-boy patrol.

George, grandson of the late John Philip Weyerhaeuser, is a well-known figure in the lumber industry, was sought this afternoon and tonight by the police, many citizens and schoolmates, both in the neighborhood around his home and school and in the wooded districts on the outskirts of Tacoma.

Britain Asking Germany for Definite Statement on Disarmament Attitude

NEGOTIATING WITH FRANCE AND ITALY

(Copyright, 1935, by The Havas Agency) LONDON, May 24 (CP-Havas).—Her air force expansion plans well under way, Great Britain today opened preliminary negotiations with Germany, France and Italy on the next phase of diplomatic efforts to bring a secure peace to Europe.

Germany is being asked, it was understood here, for a definite statement on its attitude toward disarmament, its implied demand for colonies, and its precise views on the Rhineland and Meinel, two of the European sore spots.

BEING SOUNDED

France and Italy are being sounded out on their willingness to sign an "air Locarno" independently of the general security negotiations now going forward throughout the Continent.

It is believed Italy will agree to sign if France does, but the attitude of Paris is not yet known.

Meanwhile, certain Berlin advisers said tonight that Joachim von Ribbentrop, arms adviser to Reich Chancellor Adolf Hitler, may come to London within several days for talks with British leaders.

The Government is understood to have instructed Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps, at Berlin, to ask for Hitler's reply on the following five points:

FIVE POINTS ASKED

1. Would Hitler be willing to reduce the German Army 500,000 men as planned by an international arms limitation agreement?
2. Does Hitler include civil airplanes in his offer to conclude an air limitation convention?
3. Did Hitler's foreign policy address, in its reference to Germany's rights to equality of all possessions, mean that the Reich wants her colonies back?
4. Does Hitler intend to submit permanently to the Versailles Treaty ruling demilitarizing the Rhineland?
5. Will Germany change its decision refusing to conclude a non-aggression pact with Lithuania, and what is its intention regarding Meinel?

No Move Toward Settlement of Union Steamship Company's Tie-Up

VANCOUVER, May 24 (CP).—Thousands of people who would have spent a day under perfect conditions on British Columbia coastal waters or at coastal resorts, had to observe the 24th in other ways today as the Union Steamship Co., of British Columbia's vessels, laid tied-up at their docks as a result of a strike of company employees belonging to the Seafarers' Industrial Union and the Coastwise Freight Handlers' Union. Both the men and the company expressed their sympathy towards the public.

THE TWO SIDES

"The company declared the men had been 'mildly into deliberately breaking their statutory articles,' while the men declared they could 'no longer put up with the unbearable conditions prevailing on ships of the Union Steamship Co.'"

Both asked public support. No other steamship companies were affected.

The Union Steamship Company had made no overtures tonight towards negotiations with the men and prospects were for a continuation of the tie-up with interruption 14

PUMP FOR HOURS TO KEEP AFLOAT

Freshish Wave Wrecks Superstructure of Halibut Boat on North Coast

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, May 24 (AP).—Kept afloat only after eight hours of manning the pumps, the Seattle halibut boat Albatross limped into harbor here today to obtain a lifeboat, compass and other equipment torn away by a freshish comb which swept her off Cape Fairweather.

Only the fact that all ten officers and crew were below decks saved them from being washed overboard. The wave not only tore the pilot house off the deck, but took both the Albatross' stacks, her dories, fishing gear and bailing tools, too.

Sees Empire as Great Agency for World Friendship

Premier Bennett Says British Commonwealth Most Effective Influence for Continuation of Human Liberty and Freedom—Urges Youth to Watch Every Forward Signpost

OTTAWA, May 24 (CP).—The world today "is moved by force and fear in a way hitherto unknown," said Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in an Empire Day speech here today. "It is true millions are animated by motives of suspicion and hatred. By what agency can the hand of friendship and confidence be extended to them if not by the British Empire?"

The Prime Minister spoke to the people of the British Empire in a broadcast arranged by the Canadian Radio Commission and picked up by the British Broadcasting Corporation. His speech took the form of an Empire Day message, and he referred to the outset to the fact that the birthday of the great Queen Victoria "has become an Imperial holiday."

SPONTANEOUS OUTPOURING
"I have just returned from London where I was privileged to represent Canada at the Silver Jubilee celebrations of the accession of our sovereign to the throne of his fathers," continued Mr. Bennett. "In the heart of the Empire a magnificent demonstration of loyalty was on that occasion to be expected, but the spontaneous outpouring of affection that was then witnessed is beyond the power of the imagination to conceive."

"It was a tribute to a king and queen whose family life, service and devotion to duty symbolized all that is finest and best in the myriads of homes of all types and classes of people throughout our vast Empire. In London I listened to messages from all parts of the world—yet parts of that same Empire, since, had annihilated distance."

INFLUENCE OF EMPIRE
"It was true, said Mr. Bennett, that there were millions of men and women who had dedicated their powers of speech and action to the cause of freedom. By what practical agency can we hope that human liberty and freedom will be preserved more effectively than through the influence of the British Empire?" he asked.

"We have encountered many hardships and have been sorely tried," the Prime Minister said. "Men, who are now reaching manhood, have never known a peaceful world. Security and universal peace we dimly see in the distance. They unfortunately are not present realities. Suffering and hardship still follows us—the lengthening shadows of the last Great War."

BY MUTUAL EFFORT
"The slow evolutionary processes of human development can be but little quickened by other than mutual effort and co-operation. But it will be for the youth who have the future of this great empire within their care to keep their eyes on every forward signpost of human progress. Their vision of today may not be their realities. The Argonauts, who by tradition, first sailed the Mediterranean, did not live to see the Parthenon. Difficulties and dangers were their familiar companions—consciousness of work well done the reward for their adventure."

"So we must help those about us in less favored circumstances than we may keep ever before us new concepts of human greatness in keeping with the inspiring traditions of our Empire's glorious past, and maintain its proud position of ascendancy amongst the nations of the world."

NOT A RHEUMATIC PAIN FOR 4 YEARS
70-Year-Old Man Praises Kruschen
A man who once suffered severely from rheumatism writes:
"For a long time I suffered with rheumatism, and at one time was laid up for about nine weeks. About five years ago I was advised to try Kruschen. I did so, and have continued using them ever since. Kruschen did the trick, as I have not had a rheumatic pain for over four years. I am nearly 70 years of age, and feeling fine, and always able for my day's work—thanks to Kruschen."—A.S.

Kruschen dissolves away those needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which are the cause of all rheumatic troubles. It will also flush these dissolved crystals clean out of the system. Then if you keep up "the little daily dose," excess uric acid will never form again. (Adv.)

The heavy week-end holiday schedules, if the strike continues, northern coastal points served by the company will feel the effects of interrupted freight and supplies. Passengers connecting with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway at Squamish on Howe Sound, were transported from Vancouver today on a specially chartered boat, the S.S. Cruiser.

Meanwhile a general tie-up of waterfront activities on Monday through a dispute between the Shipping Federation of British Columbia and the Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association, seemed likely.

The longshoremen declare they are not striking, but that they will start self-dispatch of men to ships and docks on Monday. Longshoremen ordered through the union will respond. The federation states they will not accept self-dispatch and declare the men are breaking a three-year agreement made last November.

Parading to the barrier in the Princess Eagle's purse event, a half-mile race for women yesterday afternoon at the Willows Oval, in the Victoria Day gymnastics. Four of the five competitors can be seen in this picture. Peggy O'Neil, with Mrs. Briggs in the saddle, captured the race. Pussay, with Miss Irene Palmer as jockey, came in second. Two entrants were Jerry, with Miss Gailher, and Peggy Dunn, with Mrs. Hunter aboard. The winner won in the clear, after displaying fine form.

friendship. Many of the exhibits showed painstaking work and originality in an effort to please the public on the day preserved throughout the British Empire as the birthday of Queen Victoria.

COACH LINES DISPLAY
Vancouver Island Coach Lines display represented travel from 1855 to 1935 with an Indian drag, the old Royal Mail stage which connected Victoria and Sooke in 1885, and a modern motor coach.

MAY QUEEN'S CARRIAGE
The carriage of the May Queen was used by King George and Queen Mary when they visited Vancouver in 1901 as the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York. The second one was formerly in possession of the late James Dunsin, and the third belongs to Hastings G. Brown. The Queen and princesses carried out the Victorian era with their costumes, and were lustily cheered as they rode by in state.

Following the Queen and her party were the 16th Canadian Scottish, a mounted gun party from the Royal Canadian Navy, the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade Band, a detachment of fifty men from the brigade, fifty men from 16th Canadian Scottish, First Battalion, the 16th Canadian Scottish Pipe Band, Rainbow Sea Cadets Band and fifty cadets. After the military and naval display came the floats.

Chief of Police Thomas Heatley was marshal of the parade. He was driven by Constable James Strong.

VICTORIA CITY FLOAT
Victoria city float was decorated with moss, laurel and violet crepe, surmounted by a golden globe, symbol of the city's name. Silver orbs with Maltese crosses were placed at each corner. The twelve unsuccessful May Queen contest candidates rode on top, each with a bouquet.

Garden City Buckaroos, representing Hill Billy musicians, rode on a shack and back garden on wheels. Their layout was complete with a small goat and a bale of hay.

Victory Roller Rink entry was an enormous boat fitted with roller skates, decorated in red, white, blue and yellow. There was a pair of wings on each side denoting speed. Amos, in Andy, chimney sweeps, rode in a brown shingled cottage on wheels, festooned with red, white and blue bunting. A small Ethiopian was on the roof in the act of cleaning the chimney.

M. H. Barry, grocer, had two delivery vehicles festooned in yellow and blue crepe.

Dressed as an old-time fur trader, Jacob Aaronson rode his seventy-five-year-old high wheel bicycle.

SEA CADETS
With the White Ensign at the stern and a crew of ten junior blue-jackets on board under Chief Instructor A. Hardy, an entry of the Rainbow Sea Cadets took the form of a workboat of the navy, complete with bridge, derrick, and cargo. Her crew took "soundings" as the float moved along in the procession, like prudent navigators. A second nautical entry was a cutter, manned by a hearty untrained crew.

The Victoria Soroptimist Club entered a large float in forest green and yellow, depicting a fireside scene in the life of a normal family. Adults were busy about household tasks, while on the floor children played safely and happily with toys of the moment, a typical family pastime.

"Help the Soroptimist Club With Its Children's Aid Work" was the slogan displayed, drawing attention to the Children's Aid Receiving Home.

MOOSE TAKE PART
The Royal Order of Moose entered a smart composite display, including a fine red and white float, featuring Mooseheart with radiant youth enthroned. The float bore giant moose heads in front, and the Mooseheart slogan, "The School That Trains for Life." Dictator J. Johnstone and members of Victoria Lodge No. 1390 marched in front, while in the rear were smart uniformed detachments from the drill team and officials of Chapter 25 of the order, under Mrs. A. Hatcher. "No Man Stands Higher Than When He Stoops to Pick Up a Little Child," was the slogan on the other side. The Junior Moose Band preceded the display.

Effective entries were made from the decorated private car class, being winners from judging on the previous day. Miss Gladys Townsend was at the wheel of a magnificently decorated car in white and purple, done in wisteria and other flowers. Three snow-white seagulls winged their way "to Victoria" on the front of the vehicle, in a well-balanced turnout.

Mrs. J. C. Newbury sponsored a car decorated effectively in orange and shades of yellow, in the form of a flowered bower; the whole surface of the vehicle being covered with a netting of lowers and colored trimmings.

In the commercial exhibits, Rochon's entered a huge red chocolate box with a white paper frilling, with a driver and two dainty maidens to suggest that chocolates have their place in holiday seasons.

THE PIONEER SPIRIT
"What we need now is the pioneer spirit of B.C.," was stressed by a covered wagon drawn by two white-faced oxen. Two hardy pioneers rode in front, while a complacent moo-cow trailed behind.

Stanley James and Bert White appeared as a comic horse with Mr. James' son, the winner, dressed in a combination of Highland and military uniforms.

Charles de Macedo, Angela de Macedo and Verna de Macedo represented a rooster, hen and chicken.

The Old English Beverage Company, Ltd., featured quadruple racks of mineral waters, in replica of the display shelves of a store where soft drinks are sold.

The Island Building Supply Company entered two exhibits, featuring Portland cement, plates of Paris tile and pottery; as well as moulded figurines for the garden, including deer, ellins and pixies. The color scheme was done in red, white and blue, with colored rosettes and bunting. Empire products were stressed.

LOAD OF WOOD
A load of block wood, with a handful of Beacon Hill broom placed in front, was paraded under the name of "The Old John Wood Company," the wood being from Yebou, Cowichan Lake.

Eddy's Women's Wear presented Katrinka, the powerful, with the slogan "Why Reduce When We Can Fit Anyone." Bill Inglis, Katrinka pro tem, got many a laugh from the holiday crowd, on recognition of the comic strip character.

Five bold cavemen in cougar, deer, beaver and goat skins, with clubs and bone weapons to match, made an effective float for the Speedway Service. With tanned faces and arms, the cavemen cut capers through the crowd in sudden forays between while returning to a log cabin on a greenwood float.

Edward Boulden and five others entered a replica of Malcolm Campbell's racing car, as an individual exhibit.

Costume winners from the Mardi-

Gras parade of Thursday night took part in the line of march, effective in Victorian, national and other costumes.

LITTLE AMY
Individual entries, in singles and groups, together with comical made an entertaining filling between larger displays in the parade. Harold MacLean with friends combined to make a realistic sea-serpent, suggested as Amy Cadborosaurus before she grew to her full length of eighty feet, to become Victoria's own sea monster.

H. F. Browne, master, mate and all hands of "The Jolly Rover," made a bold buccaner, with two imaginary men swinging at the yard-arm on a piratical craft from the Saanich main.

Circus clowns of the Y.M.C.A., under Harold MacLean, amused the crowd with their antics, and put plenty of life into the parade at their section.

W. Billings, on an Arab steed supplied by D. B. Carley, made a colorful Bedouin, horse and rider drawing much attention en route.

J. Prouce, as an Asiatic rickshaw boy, with James Hillson as a top-hatted tourist of Victorian times as his fare, jogged along the line of march, until the superior hills of Douglas Street slowed his gait to a walk.

CHAIN-LETTER SAM
Chain-Letter Sam, with a "sucker" in tow on the end of a battleship's cable, caused a laugh. Dollar bill festooned the crown of his hat, while the captive was buried in a mass of unmailed letters at the end of the chain, where occur the "kicks," but not the dollars or dimes.

E. F. Crookford, magician, paraded in the black mask of his profession, featuring Plimley & Ritchie bicycles.

G. W. Doughty contributed a brass-band small car of 1911 model, still getting along under its own power.

W. H. Foote, a visitor to Victoria, went even further back, and drove a 1904 large car model, as "Dr. Colic," and companion.

"Miss Victoria, 1900," was the entry of three boys, Gavin Jack, Thomas Jennings and Waddy Jack. Victor Eaton and friends paraded the "May Queen, 1903," only in that future year May queens will have been reduced to traveling in baby buggies, it was predicted.

Many decorated bicycles were distributed throughout the parade. The following were in charge of the parade: Edward Whyte, V. E. Morrow, E. Harris, W. Angus and Warren Martin.

Massed Choirs' Concert Highly Popular Event

Programme at Armories Last Evening by 600 Voices Is Inspired Incident in Day's Festivities—Queen Lillian and Her Attendants Present for Short Time

A TRULY inspired incident of Victoria's Twenty-Fourth of May celebration was the massed choirs' concert at the Bay Street Armories last evening. Given by a body of 600 voices, in an Empire Day programme that easily ranks as the best organized in the city's history, this concert was a thrilling climax to the day's festivities, and the sole regret voiced by any member of the big audience was that one or two of the more magnificent numbers were not broadcast.

Fair young Queen Lillian and her attendant ladies honored the occasion with their presence. Half way through the programme "Her Majesty" was escorted to the stage with her retinue of princesses, and the audience deferentially stood while they were introduced by their manager. It was a typically formal royal gesture, the procession departing after receiving the enthusiastic greeting of the applauding throng.

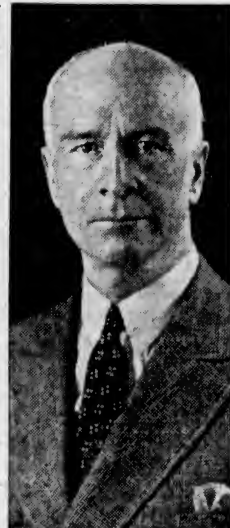

STIRRING MUSIC
The programme opened with the singing of "O Canada," led by the massed choir under Frank Tupman's direction. This in itself was a most moving number, but giving only a foretaste of the choir's capacity to play on the emotions of its audience. They attained their full majesty of expression a little later when they strode into the resonant measures of Elgar's patriotic chorus, "Land of Hope and Glory," and in the course of the evening were heard in other magnificent numbers most movingly sung. "Then Round About the Starry Throne," "Let Their Celestial Concerts," and the "Hallelujah" chorus, all by the great master of choral song, Handel.

STICK TO YOUR ROMAN MEAL THIS SUMMER

NO ONE who has read my articles or attended my lectures can ever accuse me of failing to lay stress on the importance of fresh air and exercise in matters of health.

My own experience in coming back from sickness and disease to such a condition of physical perfection at 77, that I stand before lecture audiences nightly all over the continent, able to do anything a young man can do, is proof of the efficacy of fresh air and exercise. But after all, there are but part of the program of perfect health. The food I eat, and that you should eat, is equally important. So just because the outdoor life of summer is coming—don't neglect your food. Stick to your Roman Meal, Liasus, Rekus Puddy and Kofy Sub this summer. If you would be truly well, able to resist sickness and disease as I do, your foods are the most thought to, for your body is built out of foods and can be no more resistant, summer or winter, than the materials of which it is built enable it to be. I have never been in fact, I have not had even a cold since 1913 and in even the hottest days of summer I suffer no "let down" or discomfort. This is largely due to the foods I eat. They will be equally good for you. The ideal foods for summer are fruits and vegetables, milk, nuts. Make these and my foods 80% of your diet and you will enjoy the hottest weather in comfort.

There are many ways of preparing Roman Meal for delicious cold and frozen dishes. Recipes are printed on the packages. Or cook porridge of any these foods, cooking only one or two minutes the night before. Let stand off fire until cool, then set in refrigerator or a cool place over night and serve for breakfast with fruit jelly or preserves and cream, or honey, or honey and cream, or berries, sliced peaches or ripe bananas and cream. All are very, very delicious and cold as you can desire food to

Pioneering Has Its Humorous Side

While the entry of A. H. McPherson, of Braefoot Farm, carried a worthwhile message, it also provided considerable amusement for the parade spectators yesterday. The legend on his covered wagon, shown above, read: "What We Need Is More Pioneering Spirit in B.C." A pair of oxen drew the cart. On top of the canvas cover was a clothes line with washing out to dry, netting of their coats, fastened to the side. Many other amusing things were to be seen on this really entertaining float.

female voices sang the opening lines of the verses in each instance of the evening's favorites, sung with good rhythm and clear enunciation. The rare opportunity of having available a male-voice choir of approximately 100 voices was explained by Mr. Schi, as being the excuse for the "insertion" at this point of an unadvertised selection, Gounod's great Scripture-inspired composition, "By Babylon's Wave." This, too, was a most dignified interpretation, developed with well-reserved strength to its exclamatory climax. Mrs. C. C. Warn and Miss Maquinn Daniels were the accompanists through this section of the programme.

A fresh burst of choral dynamics was heard in the massed choir's singing, again under Mr. Tupman's direction, with Edward Parsons at the piano of the great Handelian chorus, "Let Their Celestial Concerts," the noblest number of the programme up to this point. Keenly inspired baton and singers alike, and the ensemble tone had a vibrant dynamic quality that was most thrilling.

YOUTH TROMBONIST
A last-minute change on the programme at this point introduced Wilby Price, a gifted young trombonist, as soloist in place of George Green, cornettist. Accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Green, this number was given a most enthusiastic reception.

Again the massed choir sang. This time Handel's moving chorus, "Then Round About the Starry Throne." Here was another example of effective ensemble work, the whole conception of the number being on massive lines, sung with generous breadth of phrase, a bold canvas of tonal color and light and shade splendidly suited to the big auditorium. The male-voice section carried a particularly good volume of tone to balance the numerically strong female-voice section. Phrasing, intonation and cadence were very fine, and altogether it was a big conception artistically carried out.

VETERAN CONDUCTOR
The Elgar and Centennial Ladies' Choirs, led by a veteran conductor, J. W. Buckler, and accompanied by Miss Gertrude Straight, gave pleasing performances of Brahms' beautifully harmonized "Cradle Song" and "Night Hymn at Sea."

After this the baton was transferred to Frank Sehl, popular conductor of the Arion Club, who conducted a choir of male voices which separated themselves from the massed choir and came down to the front of the platform to sing Beethoven's majestic "Glory to God in Nature." The organ-like harmonies of this were interpreted in most devotional spirit. In marked contrast of mood was Shaw's tripping "Hey, Robin, Jolly Robin," which offered a pretty play of harmony between tenor and bass sections, with well-manipulated crescendo of tone. Still by the same

ANNUAL SHOW BIG SUCCESS AT CRYSTAL

Hundreds Throng "Karnival" at Local Garden—Games of Chance

WATER GALA PRIZES PRESENTED BY QUEEN

It was "open house" last night at the Crystal Garden and about 2,000 carefree Victorians thoroughly enjoyed themselves along the midway, watching the water sports, and dancing, or just looking on at the annual Kinsmen "Karnival."

The highlight of the evening was the appearance of Queen Lillian and her attendants, who arrived at the Crystal Garden shortly after 10:30 p.m., to distribute the prizes won in the aquatic events, held earlier.

The May Queen was greeted by a Kinsmen reception committee including President R. G. Shanks and Patrick Mulcahy. Mr. Shanks escorted Queen Lillian to the orchestra dais as the band played "O Canada." The Queen was given a royal reception by the crowd.

GAMES OF CHANCE
At a late hour, as the phony money, which was distributed at the door, began to flow along the midway, there was a general melee around the games of chance. The attractions along the midway included a bingo-bingo board, house-house, horse-racing, baseball playing, roulette wheels and a new chuck-luck game.

A popular orchestra provided dance music and novelty features until an early hour this morning.

The "Karnival" opened with a swimming gala, which was featured by a water-polo match between Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club and the Vancouver Island Swimming League, for the British Columbia championship, which was won by the Island team by a 6 to 4 score.

The Victoria team included W. Robertson, B. Butler, Frank Hyslop, Tommy Welburn, Art Stott, Denny Walker and Jim Little. Sidney Welsh, Frank Turner, Norman Walton, H. Beadle, Richard Cline, William Harverson and Stanley Robertson played for Vancouver. J. D. McNeill was referee.

High Water Does Its First Damage
REVELSTOKE, May 24 (CP).—The first damage from high water this year, the washing out of an approach to a bridge on the highway nine miles west of here, was repaired today. The damage had tied up traffic.

Cooler weather in this district has kept the water in check, although rains around Sicamous raised the Shuswap Lake on Thursday night by about six inches.

THE MARTYRS OF HURONIA

ON a farm in the township of Tay, Simcoe County, Ontario, a simple monument marks the probable site of one of the horrible massacres by which the savage Iroquois all but destroyed the Huron tribes. It is hard to reconcile the peaceful countryside of today with the lurid scenes, the martyrdom of the missionary fathers and the death-agony of a people which took place in the country north and west of Lake Simcoe nearly three centuries ago.

In 1648 St. Joseph, most southerly of the missions, was destroyed. There followed a winter of despair for the Hurons were now convinced that the Iroquois were determined to destroy their nation. As Spring approached the next blow fell. Early one morning the village of St. Ignace was taken by surprise. The usual indecipherable scenes of massacre followed. It was still dark when the victorious Iroquois reached nearby St. Louis, where Fathers Brebeuf and Lalemant were stationed. The missionaries, careless of their own fate, stayed with the heroic band, which fought to cover the retreat of the rest of the people.

By nine o'clock a gruesome procession was straggling back to St. Ignace, where the torture, already begun, was to be completed. The vigorous Brebeuf was first to the final agony of the stake. Some reckless blow mercifully reduced his suffering to three hours. But by refinement of mendacity the savages kept him in the mutilated body of the delicate Lalemant until the following morning. Differences of race and creed melt away as all Canada recalls with awe the devotion and heroism of the martyrs of the Huron Islands.

May Queen's Ball Brings Celebration To Brilliant Close

Crowds Greet Queen Lillian and Her Attendants at Empire Day Ball Held at Empress Hotel Last Evening

THE arrival of the May Queen and her party at the Empire Day ball at the Empress Hotel last evening added dignity and color to the gay scene in the ballroom, where about 200 dancers had gathered to enjoy the climax of the day's brilliant programme.

Queen Lillian and the five princesses and two little page boys entered the south door of the ballroom and proceeded to the stage. The National Anthem being played, the Queen, with the attendants grouped about her, occupied the central throne on the raised dais, and the 1934 May Queen and her party entered. The former May Queen removed the silver crown from her head, knelt before Queen Lillian and kissed the hem of her beautiful white satin gown. Queen Lillian then rose, and taking the 1934 queen by the hand, placed her on her left.

Shrine Hall Is Scene of Jolly Dance

A gay dance was arranged last night at the Shrine Auditorium when the Outboard and Inboard Racing Club entertained in connection with the Victoria Day celebrations. May Queen Lillian Grant, and her ladies-in-waiting, arrived during the early part of the evening and were introduced by the master of ceremonies, Mr. T. E. Morrison. Dancing continued until 1 o'clock this morning, and the music was supplied by a popular eight-piece orchestra. The committee in charge of the arrangements included Mr. S. F. Newell, chairman of the club; Mr. T. V. Baldwin, vice-chairman; Mr. W. Stromkins and Mr. W. Sweeting.

Around my lady's neck his skin
Is changed to silver fox.

Behold the tiny baby steer,
A cute, though awkward thing;
For him good money we will pay
As chicken a la king.

Behold the pretty cotton plant
With blossom white and full,
They pick the downy stuff and lo!
They sell us suits of wool.

Behold the humble alley cat,
A thing for jests and knocks,
Around my lady's neck his skin
Is changed to silver fox.

Highlights of Empire Day Festivities

QUEEN LILLIAN RECEIVES PUBLIC ACCLAIM.

SAILORS EXEMPLIFY SPIRIT OF NAVAL BASE

There were three naval entries in yesterday's parade. Above is shown a detachment from the Esquimalt Naval Base. In front of them is the 16th Scottish Pipe Band. The Naval Cadets had two entries in the parade, while another Esquimalt detachment pulled a gun and ammunition carriage.

A RARE SIGHT IN AN AUTOMOTIVE AGE

A real royal carriage, with two pairs of horses, conducted Queen Lillian in the May 24 parade. Behind her came the princesses, also in old-time carriages, drawn by black or dark bay horses. The queen's carriage was used by royalty here many years ago.

DEFEATED QUEEN CANDIDATES HONORED

Even though they were unsuccessful in the contest to determine who should be Queen of May, candidates, who did not qualify as queen or princesses, were given signal recognition by the City Council, which constructed a special float for them. The city's float, shown above, was charmingly decorated with a covering of moss and yellow taburnum. Tiers provided seats for the queen contest candidates. Pedestals with the royal orb and Maltese cross flanked them on either side, while the float was surmounted with a royal crown, set with gems.

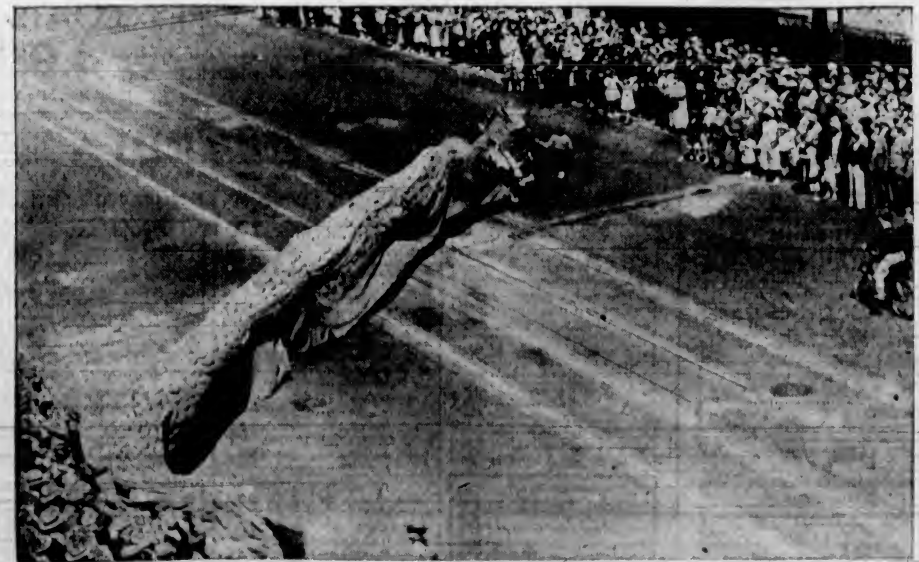

VETERANS CONTRIBUTE TO SUCCESS OF PARADE

The float, entered by the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, was a thing of beauty that won the whole-hearted admiration of thousands of spectators. This white gondola had, as its passengers, representatives from the militia, navy, aviation corps and nursing corps. The float was emblematic of loyal service to the Empire.

A THOUGHTFUL REMINDER

A little formidable, but a timely reminder of the supreme sacrifice paid by Canada's war heroes, was the entry shown above. It was entered by M. Foster and E. Gray, and bore on its side the legend, "Lest We Forget." It was an independent float and a worthy effort.

SEEING IS BELIEVING—CADDY IN PERSON

Captured at last, at least in the fancy of May 24 parade committee men, Caddy did not look a bit humiliated when he was shown off by his proud possessors in the parade. Above he is shown, the whole fifty feet of him, with his grotesque head. More than a score of boys provided his means of locomotion.

THE GARDEN CITY BUCKAROS

In between band selections this quintette of enthusiastic youths gave some jaunty cowboy selections on their guitars, violins and mouth organs. This was one of several floats entered from the Saanich Municipality, and evinced considerable interest.

Adjudicator Publishes Impressions of Canada

Dr. R. Walker Robson, Recently in British Columbia Adjudicating at Music Festivals, Records Experiences in Western Music News, Vancouver

During his week's visit in Victoria recently, in the course of which he gave a much-enjoyed invitation recital on the organ of the Metropolitan Church, Dr. R. Walker Robson met numbers of Victoria people who will be interested in the following article by him which appeared in the last issue of Western Music News, published in Vancouver this month. It is entitled "Reflections of a Judge in Canada":

"I am still young enough to look forward eagerly to each festival in England. I have not yet experienced the feeling of ennui regarding work such as this—when I do feel it approaching I will retire."

"Can Canadians realize my feelings as I approached an experience such as this in a country quite unfamiliar in topography, climate, musical standards and the mentality of the people? Books and papers give us only a dim outline. My eager anticipations have been more than fully realized. I have experienced more excitement in a month here than has been my lot at home during many years."

"My job was to come here to light the beacon and to fan the flame of music. I found on arrival that the beacon was already lighted and the flame burning merrily, except among the masses—but more of that anon!

ADVENTURE
"An unfriendly Atlantic made me a day late and this commenced my adventurous course. The first days were wonderful—the great beauty of the lakes, mountains and trees awakened new feelings of wonder and awe. Then a day of blizzards on the Prairies enlightened me regarding the endurance of the people."

"At Cranbrook I was awakened at 4:15 a.m. to board a monoplane which never started because of the snowfall. Three hundred and twenty children had chartered a special train from Nelson to Trail and were awaiting me there. Ultimately a friendly freight train took me to Nelson and a flat-car completed the trip to Trail. This was my first experience of the "caboose."

TRAIL FESTIVAL
"Trail was a lovely festival—wonderful enthusiasm and people all so friendly. I had traveled 6,000 miles to get there! Fittingly enough, I left Trail by freight train. I shall not easily forget the mad drive in the stage to Kelowna, the descent of a mountain 4,300 feet in falling snow and ice-bound paths, chains on the wheels and the car lurching dangerously on threatening canyons. Cold and hungry after a day's fasting, I was thankful to arrive at Kelowna, where a discussion with the Kelowna festival committee was followed by a midnight supper at the bar of a cafe. A memorable Sunday night!"

"The drive to Kamloops along the lovely Okanagan Lake was wonderful. Kamloops was another experience—again great enthusiasm, and an extra day all to myself, when we invited all competitors, parents and others interested to come. A packed house—choir rehearsals, talks, sight singing and other items made a wonderful climax. I was very happy there."

NANAIMO FESTIVAL
"Then on to the Nanaimo festival—that supremely beautiful coastline I can never forget. Again the same enthusiasm and friendliness—three sessions and meetings at home afterward—little sleep, but much joy and plenty of opportunity for instruction. The audience sang here at several sessions and I enjoyed it immensely."
"Then a rest at Victoria, and an enjoyable evening at the beautiful organ of Metropolitan Church—a private recital by request. Now I am on my way to Nelson to spend a day with the children to make up for the day of disappointment—" then on to Saskatchewan and Ontario festivals. I have yet to swim or walk to a festival. Am I to experience this also?

"As to my impressions of standards and prospects here in this great country, I shall say more again. For now, just one closing thought—more attention must be paid to the masses. Each festival session everywhere should provide an opportunity for the people to experience the joy of singing. We must spread the 'love of music' in a wider circle, and mass singing is the easy way."

Pet Reptile Takes Leave From Circus

"Snakes alive," muttered the concessionaire as his pet-reptile dashed from his outstretched hands at one of the side-shows along carnival road, Blanshard Street, yesterday.

Women screamed. Some even thought of fainting, and boys walked around on the ice. But a kindly constable jumped into the breach and guarded Victorians until the owners of the reptile could catch up with it.

One woman, a resident in the neighborhood, telephoned police and thought the snake was in her yard and asked for the entire force to "clear the thing out." The snake was soon found; however, and not far from its royal.

Regatta Tea Attended By Big Holiday Crowd

May Queen and Her Retinue Welcomed During Afternoon at "Sissinghurst"—Chapter Funds Will Be Augmented

A crowd of approximately 500 persons attended the regatta tea yesterday afternoon at "Sissinghurst," George Road, the home of Mrs. Crow Baker, the party having been arranged by the members of H.M.S. Resolution Chapter, I.O.D.E., the proceeds to be devoted to chapter funds.

No more beautiful afternoon could have been imagined for the affair and the guests in their summer frocks, the pipe band in uniform, the Highland dancers in their kilts and the May Queen herself, attended by her retinue, added color and brilliancy to the scene in the grounds.

Many of the visitors watched the regatta from the boathouse in the grounds, the lawn sloping down to the waters of the George. Stalls of ice cream, candies, etc., were arranged under the great trees and tea was served on the terrace near the house.

MAY QUEEN ARRIVES
The May Queen, who arrived shortly after 4 o'clock, was greeted by the pipe band, and she and her attendants were welcomed by Mrs. Crow Baker, Mrs. C. H. O'Halloran, regent of the chapter, and members of the committee. Each of the guests of honor was presented with a beautiful corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The May Queen and her ladies-in-waiting wore white frocks and cream flannel sports coats, with white crepe hats, the whole group making a most charming picture. Highland dancing was a feature of the afternoon's proceedings, pupils of Miss Adeline Grant appearing in the Shean Truibhas and reel o' Tulloch, Pipe-Major Donald Cameron playing the accompaniment. Those taking part were Evelyn Watson, Gwen Dewar, Jessie Pollock and Ina Robertson. Betty Cameron and Master Jerry Elliott danced the Highland fling, and the spectators gave them all enthusiastic applause at the end of the dances.

STALL-HOLDERS

The candy stall was in charge of Miss Jean McLaren, Mrs. Oliver Pauline and Mrs. J. S. Oliphant; the ice cream was dispensed by Mrs. Nell Clarke and Mrs. Kenneth Adams; Mrs. A. H. Ford, Miss Mary Holmes and Miss Doris Holmes were in charge of the gate receipts, and Mrs. J. Buckley provided at the tea unit, members of the chapter assisting in serving. Miss Estelle Matheson and Miss Kathleen Youdall also assisted.

Mrs. A. M. Mackenzie was general convenor of the affair and she had the valuable assistance of all members of the chapter in working to make the afternoon such an outstanding success. The tea service was won by Mrs. James P. Cameron, 1235 Fairfield Road.

COMPROMISE PLAN AVERTS WAR THREAT

that the council should meet on August 26.

The Ethiopian representative, who sat temporarily with the council as a member, announced that Ethiopia interpreted the two resolutions to mean, "Italy will refrain from sending additional troops to East Africa and will not employ troops already there for aggression."

The compromise proposal, embodied in a resolution by Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, was said by council delegates to have averted the threat of war and one of the greatest crises in the League's history.

AGREES TO TERMS

Benito Mussolini, heretofore adamant to British and French insistence that he submit the controversy to conciliation and arbitration, agreed, it was announced, to these terms.

Reaffirmation of the whole of Article Five of the Italo-Ethiopian Treaty of 1928, which provides for arbitration of differences and specification of a time limit for conciliation procedure.

Fixing of a time limit for conciliation procedure

Delegates to the League Council, which was called into session at 11:15 p.m. (4:15 p.m. C.S.T.) to hear the glad news, said jubilantly that one of the greatest crises in the League's history had been averted. Fears had been expressed in British and French quarters that Mussolini might follow Japan's and Germany's example in withdrawing from the Geneva organization if it persisted in attempting to deal with the dispute.

It Duce's surprise yielding came at the end of a day that saw hopes for a settlement rise and fall, as French and British mediators conferred with Italian and Ethiopian representatives.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, the Italian delegate, telephoned Mussolini and successive proposals put forward by Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, and Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister.

Captain Eden's resolution, which finally brought acceptance from Mussolini, set June 25 as the "deadline" for effecting conciliation and August 25 as the time limit for arbitration.

Britain and France, both eager to keep the controversy from flaring into open hostilities, reportedly proposed time limits both for conciliation, and, if that failed, for arbitration, even though they have been reluctant to see the dispute aired over the council tables.

League circles said they considered the situation a diplomatic struggle between Eden, prime mover in the efforts toward settlement, and Mussolini, who had said repeatedly Italy alone will deal with the problem.

The opening scenes of "Goin' to Town" are laid in the Middle West where Mae West acquires a lot of money by the process of getting rid of her wealthy husband.

Then she really starts going places. Following a handsome young Englishman, Paul Cavanagh, on whom she has her eye, Mae West goes to Buenos Aires for the races. Here she meets and marries Monroe Owsley, a broken-down member of select Southampton society, because she wants to meet the bluebloods.

With her husband, and hordes of admirers and fortune hunters, she has quite a time of it until Cavanagh turns up to tell her that he has loved her all the time.

PLAYHOUSE William Haines, who is featured in "Young and Beautiful," now at the Playhouse Theatre, with the 1934 "Wampus Baby Stars," is an inveterate practical joker, and he is very fond of wearing blue suits. Joseph Stanley, the director knew about this and nearly broke Bill Haines' heart by insisting that Haines wear sport clothes; evening clothes, white flannels, anything except blue suits.

COLUMBIA One of the catchiest song hits of the season is heard in Universal's film, "I've Been Around," now at the Columbia Theatre, in which Chester Morris is starred, with Rochelle Hudson as his leading lady. The song is also called "I've Been Around," and was written for the picture by Jack Meskill and Jack Stern. Miss Hudson sings this number.

National League Leaders Snow Under Chicago by 13-0—Dodgers Beat Dizzy Dean—Pirates Come Through—White Sox White-washed by Senators, 10-0

NATIONAL LEAGUE
CHICAGO, May 24 (AP).—The Giants finally found a left-hander they could beat today and with Hal Schumacher pitching a four-hit shutout they celebrated the occasion by leading over the Cubs, 13-0. Little Roy Henshaw was the victim, and the crippled league leaders, who are apparently out to prove they can limp faster than the rest of the teams can run, knocked him out with a five-run blast in the first inning. They continued their belting against a pair of young right-handers, Clay Bryant and Hugh Casey, for a total of twenty hits. Their success against Henshaw brought their first victory over a southpaw this season.

Mrs. Hartley Brings Her Mount Home in Front in Feature Event of Gymkhana at the Willows—Beggar Boy Is Second

With his rider, Mrs. Hartley, displaying good horsemanship and riding ability, Billy Wisp yesterday scored a spectacular victory in the Queen Victoria Steeplechase, the feature event on the gymkhana programme staged at the Willows track as part of Victoria's three-day celebration. Keeping close to the leader, Beggar Boy, ridden by D. Carley, the winner came through with a burst of speed in the last hundred yards to gain a popular but close victory. Pat, with G. Edgelow up, was third.

Miss Lillian Grant, Victoria's May Queen, accompanied by her princesses, visited the grounds during the afternoon, and decorated Billy Wisp with a wreath presented by Joe North. A silver trophy for the winner of this event was presented by the Blue Line.

Seven races were on the programme, and the finishes in most cases were exceptionally close. During the afternoon the band of the Fifth Brigade, with Bandmaster Al Prescott in charge, rendered a number of musical selections.

LOCAL CREWS CHALK UP VICTORIES OVER VANCOUVER'S SHELLS

Fours and Eight-Oared Victoria Boats Sweep to Thrilling Decisions Over Opponents in Regatta at Gorge—Mann Brothers Lose Close Race—Thousands See Events

Skimming over the waters of the Gorge with a smooth and well-timed stroke, Coach Dan Moss sent his J.B.A.A. crews, the four and eight-oared, to the narrowest of victories yesterday in the Victoria Day regatta over two formidable and sharply-trained shells from the Vancouver Rowing Club in the feature races on the long programme. Victoria's oarsmen, trained to a fine point, nosed out the Mainlanders in the fours by a scant five feet, and then rose to greater heights and glory by coming through in the eight-oared event by a three-foot margin. The races were the two of the closest ever staged at the Gorge in an inter-city meet and speak well of the calibre of oarsmen being trained at the veteran athletic association for the coming N.P.A.A.O. classic in July.

Although it was hard to estimate the crowd which lined the bridge, packed the grandstand, the various floats and the banks of the course, close to 3,000 must have witnessed the events. Every vantage point was taken up along the route of the distance races, while humanity crowded the many places around the finishing line. The regatta was late in starting and therefore several of the outboard events were called off, as it was too late to continue. Delay in commencing the May parade caused many of the regatta competitors to be late in arriving at the Gorge.

GREAT VICTORY
In the fours the local quartette slipped along the course in great fashion, and it was a driving finish which brought them through. Taking the lead in the early part, the locals fell behind slightly and then the race was even as the two shells came within sight of the J.B.A.A. float. Throwing every ounce of energy into the last 200 yards, Victoria nosed out the visitors by five feet. Temple, Wingler, Davis and McDonald made up the winning boat, while Pratt, McKenzie, Usher, a former J.B.A.A. oarsman, and De Millie, stroked for Vancouver.

The eight-oared event was nip-and-tuck from the first report of the starter's gun. Two false starts took place before the shells got away. For the first 500 yards the boats were on even terms, then Victoria, with Jimmy Mann as stroke, stepped out in front by about three feet, but Vancouver pulled powerfully and were even again as the heavy mark was reached. On the home stretch the crews were neck-and-neck, and as they flashed past the judges' stand, J.B.A.A. slipped in a winner by a stroke, or about three feet.

The Mann brothers, Jimmy and Arnold, lost a tough verdict to the smooth stroking of Babs Jagard and McDonald, Vancouver, in the feature doubles. Taking the lead about half way down the route, the invaders continued their fine teamwork to the finish and won out in another great finish. Four feet separated the shells as the finishing line was reached.

A crew stroked by Tom Bishop took the opening event, the novice fours from another J.B.A.A. crew. The winners had a ten-length advantage at the finish. In the singles event, an all-J.B.A.A. affair, Mac Gillings won from H. Standil by a length, and Monty Butler, sensational Vancouver singles rower, took Hugh Francis into camp by three lengths in the main event in this class. Butler took an early lead and won in great style.

Keen interest was shown by the large crowd in the various Indian canoe races. Due to the lateness of the meet, only two outboard events took place. Jack Clark, Kinsmen, won the outboard hydroplane race by a comfortable margin. Louis Schmelz, Victoria, was second, and Harry Holmes, Victoria, a close third.

Shortstopping for Yanks

Wildness on the part of Asahis' first pitcher proved costly, the visitors driving in four runs in the first inning. Giants add two more in the third, another in the sixth and still another in the seventh. Asahis got their lone tally in the eighth and the Giants wound up the scoring with another run in the last frame.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
The Masonic Marley—Major Lukaszinski, of Warsaw (1786-1888), while serving in the Polish army under the command of Grand Duke Constantine, was arrested in 1822 and court-martialed for the crime of having the most dreaded prison in all Russia. He was lodged, a prisoner of state, in the most forbidding part of the underground dungeon. No one, not even the guards, were permitted to speak to him. He was forbidden the solace of books or writing material. He never sent or received any letters. The Czar ordered his day for complete maintenance, but his jailers always stole half a cent of this allowance. Under these incredible conditions Major Lukaszinski survived for forty-six years, dying in his stone dungeon on February 27, 1888.

Scottish Footballers Defeat Ontario Squad With Ease—Wilson Nets Five

KITCHENER, Ont., May 24 (CP).—The Scottish Football Association touring team marked Queen Victoria's birthday here by scoring nine goals in an exhibition soccer match with a team selected from the Western Football Association. Their opposition tallied only once.

Today's was the fourth consecutive victory of the visiting Scotsmen. Their trail of success began in New York, and was continued in Philadelphia, Toronto and here. The speedy accuracy and teamwork of the internationalists overwhelmed the W.F.A. eleven. Paced by D. Wilson, who scored four goals in the first half, the team had a comfortable lead of six points at half-time. In the second period they treated the crowd of 1,000 to a spectacular display of passing, teamwork and foot technique.

They added another three points to their total, while the locals were saved from a shutout by Patrick, of Fergus, centre forward of the picked team.

The teams:

THE VOLT

Even schoolboys bandy the term "volt."

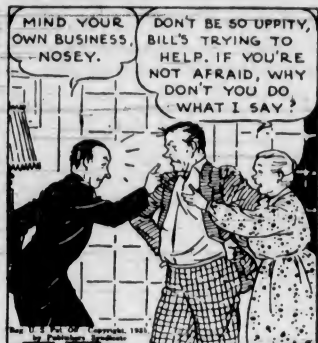

The arduous struggles, the thousands upon thousands of experiments and disappointments which culminated in the ascertainment of just one now commonplace fact, the personality of the pioneer in science—all these are, alas, only too frequently completely lost sight of.

Volta, unit of electro-motive force, is named after Alessandro Volta, Italian physicist, renowned for his researches into electricity.

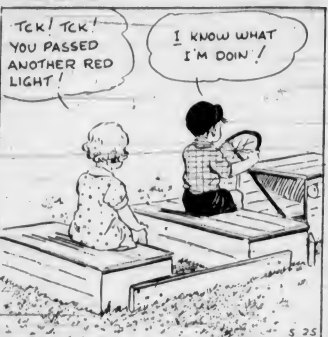

It was in the stars that Volta should become one of the world's great natural philosophers and scientists. Born in 1745, it was not long before his abilities were recognized. He was professor at Pavia for thirty years. He died in 1826.

Volta led the way so well beaten by Tesla and Edison. Schoolboys may forget him. Posterity never.

CHAPTER XVIII

The hot glare of a torch awoke me. All around me crowded masses of savages, young and old, women and youths and children. The woods vomited barbarians; they came in packs, hastening as though on some pressing affair.

Women near me were digging a hole, and presently came a strong young girl, bearing a post of buckeye, and let it heavily in the hole, fitting it while the others stamped in the mud around it.

The main crowd, however, had surged down into a hollow to the left, and of a sudden came three Indians driving before them a white man, arms tied, bloodless face stamped with horror.

As he passed the fire where I lay, I thought his starting eyes met mine, but he staggered on without speaking, down into the darkness of the hollow. I knew him. He was Nathan Giles, who had taken the first scalp in Lord Dunmore's war. Shuddering, I sat up, turning my head toward the gloom below. There was not a sound. I waited, straining eyes and ears. My heart drummed on my ribs.

Suddenly the black pit below burst out in a sheet of light, shining on a thousand motionless savages; and in the centre of a glare I saw a naked figure, bound to a tree, twisting through smoke-shot flames.

For a second only the scene wavered before me; then I gripped my temples and pressed my face down into the cool, wet grass. A full cry rang in my ears; the gasp from the fort heard them, too, for they fired a cannon, and I heard distant drums beating to arms.

"Thus you are to die," repeated the Indians beside me. "Thus you will die here on this hill at dawn. Thus you will suffer in pain the way of the fort! This for the death of Logan's children!"

Into my nostrils crept the stench of burnt flesh; it grew stronger and stronger. Silence fell, broken by the whispering rain. Then out of the night came the dull noise of many people stirring. They were coming!

As I rose, a Cayuga youth seized me and threw me heavily against the post imbedded in the mud. I fought and strained and writhed, but they tied me, bracing me up stiff against the wet stake, trussed like a fowl for beating.

Around me the crowd was thickening; hundreds of tongues lashed me with insults; thrice a young girl reached out and struck me in the face.

They began piling wood around my feet and stuffing the spaces full of dry moss.

Through the falling rain I saw morning lurking behind the eastern hills, and I cursed it for the shock and terror had driven me out of my senses.

It was only when the same young girl who had struck me lighted a splinter of yellow pine and thrust it through my arm that my senses returned. I opened my eyes as from a swoon, seeing clearly the faces around me, red under the torches. And foremost among those in front stood Tamarack in his scarlet robes. Now my voice came back, seeking my lips, my parched tongue moved, and I called on Tamarack to hear me, but he shook his head, though I adjured him by the bells I had borne and received.

"Lies," he said. "You come not from Johnston! Your bells are lies; your words lie! You come from Cresap! Cresap shall see how you can die for him!"

"I speak the truth!" I cried out in my agony. "I am a bell-bearer; I have laid the ghosts of your slain."

"Lies," he said. "You come not from Johnston! Your bells are lies; your words lie! You come from Cresap! Cresap shall see how you can die for him!"

"I speak the truth!" I cried out in my agony. "I am a bell-bearer; I have laid the ghosts of your slain."

Balbo Back in the Picture

Long removed from Italian limelight by being sent to an African colony as governor, Marshal Balbo is again being permitted to claim attention. He is seen conducting Italy's Crown Princess on tour of Italian Libya, which she visited with her husband.

he snarled. "I shall wed you, pretty baggage. Mistress Warren, spite of Sir William! I shall bend her to my pleasure; I shall whip her to my feet. Ah! Ah! Now you rage, eh?"

I had hurled my trusted body forward on the cords, struggling convulsed with fury. Indians struck me and thrust me back with clubs, but I did not feel the blows. I fixed my maddened eyes on Butler and struggled.

But now the sachems were calling him sharply, and he backed away from me as the circle surged forward. Again the girl came out, bearing a flaming flag. She looked up at me, laughed, and thrust the burning sticks into the moss and under stacked around me. A billow of black smoke rolled into my face, choking and blinding me, and the breath of the flames passed over me.

Twice the rain quenched the fire. They brought fresh heaps of moss, laughing and jeering. Through the smoke I saw the fort across the valley, its parapets crowded with people. Jets of flame and distant reports showed they were firing rifles, hoping perhaps to kill me ere the torture began. It was too far. The last glimpse of the fort faded through the downpour; a new pile of moss and birch bark was heaped at my feet.

This time the girl was thrust aside and a young Indian advanced, waving a crackling branch of pitch pine, roaring with flames. As he knelt to push it between my feet, a terrific shout burst from the throng—a yell of terror and amazement. Through the tumult I heard women screaming; in front of me the crowd shrank away, huddling in groups. Some backed into me.

"Brother, I witness." Trembling fingers picked and pushed at my cords; the bonds loosened; the sky spun round; down I fell, face splashing in the mud.

What Today Means

GEMINI

If May 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Today should be favorable for those who have favors to ask, providing they are not unreasonable. Be careful how you express yourself, for an ambiguous reply is likely to be construed as an ungracious one. There is a probability that you will try to listen in on two conversations at the same time, which may result in your forming wrong conclusions regarding the two totally different subjects under discussion. Careless in any way as to personal conduct should be guarded against, as either will subject the offender to severe criticism. A conservative mode of entertainment will produce more enjoyable results than those where any semblance of restraint is thrown to the four winds. The tactful man or woman will avoid asking questions of a personal nature, or prying into private affairs. Married and engaged couples, as well as those earnestly engaged in wooing, will find any demonstration of selfishness likely to be rewarded in an unexpected manner.

If a woman, and May 25 is your birthday, it probably will be the start of a new era of good fortune for you. You may anticipate some good news. Some friend possibly will give you a gratifying evidence of his loyalty and deep affection in a way you least expect. You are discriminating, as well as appreciative of things which are of artistic worth. You should make an excellent buyer for a gift shop or department store, or as a professional shopper, chaperone, as well as a trained nurse, you will possibly do well. The earlier you marry the better it may be, for companionship is important for your contentment.

The child born on May 25 is likely, when it reaches its teens, to display a high degree of intelligence and show a decidedly inventive ability of a practical nature.

If a man, and May 25 is your natal day, you are apt to have very sensitive hands, with a keenly developed sense of touch. Being artistic, you should succeed as a painter, decorator, architect, draftsman or musician. You may also have literary ability, as well as strong dramatic instincts. You probably will marry happily, and get your greatest pleasure through your home life.
